The Jaguar MK V was built between 1948 and 1952. It was a car of very limited production, and so was very exclusive.

With leather upholstery, walnut dashboard, very attractive lines and a frontal design showing a clear transition from the pre-war years, with fully integrated headlights, the Jaguar MK V D.H.C became a design and luxury icon.

This model has a spectacular set of tools that take up the entire rear shelf.

The Jaguar MKV's successful participation in various years of the Monte Carlo rally proves what an all-round car it was.
